Fort Vancouver ODS Adult Camp
August 23-26, 2018
Summerfield Farm, Ridgefield WA

This event is supported by a grant from The Dressage Foundation

Dolly Hannon:
USDF bronze, silver, and gold medalist, "S" judge, and USDF certified instructor (4th level).

As an avid horse lover, USEF "S" Dressage judge, and USDF certified instructor (4th level), I have been teaching and training horses and equine enthusiasts the art of dressage for over 35 years. I enjoy sharing my passion with others through individual instruction, clinics, judging, horse training, showing, mentoring, coaching and academic seminars. Although my home is Colorado, I often travel worldwide to assist others with Dressage, including Western Dressage ("R" USEF Judge) and combined training.

My personal riding experience helps me strive to be the best teacher, mentor, and equine advocate possible. I look forward to helping you and your equine partner reach your own goals while enjoying and learning the art of dressage.

Beth Glosten:
USDF bronze, silver, and gold medalist,
USDF "L" Graduate with Distinction

I grew up riding horses with a local Pony Club. I was a typical horse-crazy kid; all free time was spent with my pony or horse. But then realities of "growing up" appeared, and I was off to college, and then some. Horses worked their way back into my life when I got my first job, and I became a student of dressage.

[after a successful decade-long career, personal and health issues prompted Beth to leave medical practice in 1997]

I took the course work and became a certified pilates instructor. I am interested in using pilates to enhance riding skills. Lessons and clinics are designed to improve rider posture and balance on horseback helping the rider move with the horse in harmony.

Fort Vancouver ODS Adult Camp
August 23-26, 2018
Summerfield Farm, Ridgefield WA

This adult camp is designed for the ambitious Adult Amature looking to improve her riding and advance her horse. Lessons will focus on correct rider position, and the influence the rider has in straightness of the horse. Over four days, participants will have two private lessons with each instructor. Additionally, there will be group lessons and un-mounted activities including lectures, demonstrations, and instruction on the related topics of rider fitness, biomechanics, and proper gymnastisization of the horse to progress through the levels. Camp starts Thursday at noon and ends Sunday at 1 pm. Auditing is encouraged!
